THE STRANDING OF THE "BIMEIJI MĀRU" 🦿

The Agent of the Nippon Yusen Kalsha kindly furnishes us with the following additional and most interesting information respecting the stranding of the above named steamer :---

"Since writing to you last Saturday we have later telegraphic information to hand which goes to show that the ill-fated steamer went" ashore on the Paracels on the 1st November and on the following day the second officer, Mr. Macgaritz, laft in one of the ship's boats with six men and made for the mainland, which he reached on the 6th, and thence wired us. Yesterday, the . chie officer of the steamer, with eleven of the crew also landed. Both of these gentlemen report the steamer was in a bad condition when they left her. She was lying on the shore flooded with water, and all fires out. No lives were lost however, and it is expected that a part of the cargo will be saved."

THE CABLE QUESTION.

In a recent issue the China Gazette says it is satisfactory to note "that although no hope is in sight, our friends, in Hongkong still contiune to valiantly protest and fightagainst the Cable Companies' increase inrates, and by putting themselves, through the Chamber of Commerce, into comunnication with powerful friends in other parts of the world with the object of bringing pressure to bear on the Companies by the force of unremitting outcries, they are still working bravely for cheaper telegraphic rates." Seeing, however, what little encouragement we have received from the home government and bearing in mind the curt snub administered to us in one of the British Minister's billets doux, our Shanghai contemporary fears that the continuance of the agitation in its present form "against the extortion of the Cable Companies cannot result in any amelioration of the hopeless condition of the public who support these insatiable corporations," and, anxious to aid in the matter, the Gazette draws attention to the Formosa cable, connecting Formosa with Sharp Peak, near Foochow, and, after contending that there is good reason, on commercial grounds, why Hongkong should be placed in direct telegraphic communication with the "Beautiful Isle" it avers that "it is highly important, not only to in Formosa 17 are Japanese merchants. Hongkong, but to British interests generally that there should be some alternative and safe means of communication between Hongkong and Japan besides that over Secretary, will be in charge of the Legation the Russian-controlled Great Northern cable between Nagasaki and Shanghal, which, in case of war, might become a very undesirable if not an altogether. impossible line of communication between the British Admiralty, and its warships in Japanese and Siberian waters." That is so, no doubt; but however willing the Japanese might be to accommodate us in the matter of an alternative route yet as they are parties to a hard-and-fast agreement with the Danish Company it seems hardly likely that anything can be done yet awhile. In view, however, of the fact that although great efforts were made in the recent negotiations in Peking by the United Companies to fully secure to themselves control of the Japan-Formosa cable—that is to be in the near "future-we agree with contemporary that it may be worth while to see if this cable can be brought under Bri ish control. If this is impossible the Gasette affirms that It would be advisable to make arrangements for the laying of a new cable from Hongkong to Formosa · lirect. We are afraid this would be of very little use to the general public, though, and that our only hope o salvation from the oppression of United Octopanies lies in the laying of a trans-Pacific cable, from Vancouver to Australia with a branch line to Hongkong, as suggested at the recent meeting of the Chamber of Commerce.

THE Government, says the Stralls Times of 31st October, purpose to build a fourteen-mile railway across the island of Singapore. The figures on which the proposal is based seem remarkably sanguine. The railway, including rolling-stock, and acquisition of land, and the creation of numerous stations, and everything else, is to cost a sum which, taking the dollar at two shillings, is under £50,000. Further, this railway is to run two trains, making three complete trips backwards and forwards each day, or, in all, twelve single journeys, and the entire cost of running these trains, during a whole year, is estimated at less than £2,500. And it is on the basis of those estimates that it is assumed the railway will pay ! The railway, says the S.T., cannot be constructed for the money named, and cannot be conducted for the money named. . A serious Government should not propose to gointo a serious enterprise on a basis of figures stated in such a way that even a company promoter would blush at them,

AN EXTRAORDINARY CASE.

THE PROCEEDINGS AGAINST C. S. MCKINLEY. At the Police Court to-day before Capt. Hastings, C. S. McKinley, an electrical engineer in the employ of the Hongkong Electric Company, was brought up, on remand, charged with having, on or about the 3rd October, forged a letter or document, dated the 3rd October, purporting to be signed by one W. Farmer, of the New Victoria Hotel. Mr. J. J. Francis Q.C. (instructed by Mr.

Hastings), appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. E. Robinson (instructed by Mr. Mounsey) appeared for the defendant. The case is remarkable one, it being alleged that the defendant placed a package of oplum on board the steamer Hanol, together with a letter addressed to Mr. Raymond, Chief Officer. The vessel was bound to Halphong and as soon as she left Hongkong defendant is said to have reported to the French Coniul that the oplum was on board the vessel in Mr. Raymond's cabin. At Halphong the Havot was searched by excise officers who found two tins of opium in Mr. Raymond's cable. Mr. Raymond was locked up, besides being fined $600 and the steamer parrowly escaped being penalised in a large sum. McKinley is further alleged to have sent off with the opium a letter signed "Yours fraternally, W. Farmer," asking Mr. Raymond to take the package to a Halphong hotel-keeper and stating that it contained photographic material. Mr. Raymond was about to proceed against Mr. Farmer for damages when he discovered that that gentleman knew nothing court Mr. Raymond said he was in gaol for has days and was fined $400, besides having to pay $110 court expenses, $33 appeal fees, and $280 lawyers' expenses. Being a Freemason like Mr. Farmer, he understood the words "Yours fraternally" to be a Masonic greeting. At the time Mr. Raymond said he, perhaps, was instrumental in getting to Haiphong a woman who. had been housekeeper for delendant. Mr. Farmer, in court, declared that the writing in the identified it as that of McKinley. Captain Victor J. I. Choczko, master of the steamer Hanof, was the first witness called to-day. He said he was breaklasting on board the vessel on October 3rd. The chief and second mates were with him at the time. While at break ast a small zinc box about the size of the Bible in court was brought to Mr. Raymond.

letter was not his and Mr. C. T. Robinson

His Worship declined Mr. Robinson's request to have the Bible put in as an exhibit, witness having previously said that he could not give the size in inches.

Witness, continuing, said a paper came with the box. He only saw the signature to the paper. That produced was the one he saw. The zing box was soldered. Did not remember whether there was any label or writing on the box. Witness only knew Mr. Farmer by sight The ship sometimes took small parcels free to Halphong, but only when he knew it would not cause harm to his owners or a breach of the Customs rules. The ship also took small parcels for payment, on parcel tickets. Opium had to be specially packed and it would be carried in the mail room if in small parcels. There were also special rates for the freight of opium. A small, limits. parcel on a short trip like that from here to Halphong need not appear on the manifest, but oplum had always to be manifested. He never saw the rine box again. On anchoring at Halphone the Customs officers searched Mr. Raymond's berth and at the mouth of the river the vessel was met by Customs people. The distance from the river month to Hainhong was about 20 miles. Witness was told on a Customs erpiser that they were watching for the Hanol.

To Mr. Robinson—He did not know that Mr. Ray, nend knew the vessel was suspected. The vessels were always watched. The Hanot anchored at the river mouth for three or four hours. The people on board the Hanos must have known that the vessel, was under observation. Regarding the bex mentioned witness westward of the cable ground and the ansaid he did not know the contents and told Mr. Raymond to give it to the bearer and tell him to get a parcel ticket.

To His Worship-No one boarded the ship at the river mouth and only witness landed to Victor Gardon, second officer of the Hanol, corrobogated the evidence of his captain and said he saw, the box next after leaving Hongkong at Halphong, but he could not swear to it. When at Halphong he saw Mr. Raymond opening abox. William Must, engineer in the employ of the Hongkong Electric Light Co., said he knew accused, who was a fellow emplove. Knew his bandwriting and had often seen it. The document shown him in court was in the handwriting of McKinley. He was quite sure of it. ANCHORING IN THE CABLE GROUND.

THE COMMANDER OF A MAIL STEAMER FINED. At the Police Court to-day before Captain Hastings, the Commander of the N. D. L. mail steamer Preussen (Captain P. Wettin) was charged with breach of the Harbour Regulations in anchoring within the telegraph ground on the night of the 7th instant. A plea of not gullty was entered and Mr. V. H Deacon appeared for the defendant.

Sergeant Warnock gave evidence that he saw the vessel anchor within the proscribed limits. He said he boarded her and told the Chief Officer he was in the tel-graph ares. The officer said it was the pilot's fault. Witness went off to the ship again at 11.30, when the four red lights marking the telegraph line were still visible. The. officer of the watch said he had already been spoken to by the police. At this time the ship was heading S.W., and was riding to her chain.

In answer to Mr. Deacon witness said he could not identify the captain or chief officer in court, but he recognised the pilot whom he saw on board. Took the Inspector round at a next morning and saw the vessel until she lifted her anchor. The steamer was abreast of the manager's bouse at Admiralty Dock when she weighed anchor. Witness could see the dock gates from the vessel on the Sunday morning and when the gates were open the stern of the Russian warship was visible over the low land. The only part inside the gates he saw was over the land. If the ship were lying right off the dock gates she whatever of the matter. When last before the could not be on the cable ground. When he officers from different regiments had better spoke to her officer about his position he told him positively where he was. On the Sunday morning when witness was near the steamer her. alms to supply this, cable was straight up and down, and the ship was in the cable ground, her bow being in line with the end of the deck wall. Witness had been in the Water Police 6 months.

> Inspector Hauson gave evidence as to the position of the vestel on the morning of the 8th inst., when he said she was tailing towards Blackhead's Point. Coming up astern of the vessel the western lights opened tefore he reached her; he then was about two lengths aftern. Witness went ahead til he shut out the eastern lights. When reached the ship she was in the centre of the cable ground, but he did not know what chain she had out. When the auchor was straight up and down witness was close to the steamer and noted her position. The cable now. house at Whitfield, the bows of the steamer and the launch and the N.E. corner of the dock wall were in line. He was sure the ship was in the cable ground. The ship was about twice the distance from the easternment dock buoy that that buby is from the dock. From the way in which the ship was handled he thought the people on board knew they were "on the cable ground, and many of them were watching the anchor as it came up. A steamship did not weigh her anchor very slowly unless something.

was expected to come up with it. Mr. Deacon said there was a direct conflict of evidence in the case. The vessel was brought Lee So, a pilot of 25 years' service in Hong kong waters, said he knew the cable ground, its i blm, after bringing the vessel in, to lie off the half a mile from the entrance. They passed the T prohibited area by 500 yards before anchoring. The anchor was also outside the cable ground. Weighed anchor at about it a.m. on the 8th and went into dock. Did not expect to bring up the cable, as the anchorwas 500 yards away... He saw the four red lights.

Wilhelm Franke, Chief Officer of the Praussen. deposed that he had been in the harbour here about 30 times and he knew the prohibited ground. On Saturday the ship anchored to the chor was far enough from the cable ground. Witness was quite sure about this; the vessel was lying right off the dock gates, which were open. He was able to see nearly the whole length of the dock. The vessel was about cable lengths from the land, and 45 fathoms of chain were out. He did not expect to bring up anything with the anchor, such as a cable. H was not on the bridge when the policeman came on board. The anchor was slowly heaved up by the captain's orders after the police had said they would get hold of the cable. His Worship said he had decided, after hear ing the pilot's evidence and that of the police. that the anchor was in the cable ground, and imposed a fine of $25.

accomplished by the Navy League was in no small degree the influence which inspired the founders of the Volunteer League with the idea which they are now engaged in corrying out. They openly avow that it is their intention to employ very similar methods in the carrying out of their aims and aspirations. It is one of the weaknesses of the present Volunteer system of administration that there are no means open to Volunteers, who for business or other reasons are compelled to change their residence from one past of the country to another, of transferring their service to another corps without loss of rank or seniority. This diffienlty is beyond question one of the causes of the leakage which is experienced annually, especially in the commissioned ranks. The League hopes to be able to be the means of doing the country good service in this respect by furnishing its members with particulars concerning corps sultable to them to join in their new locality, and also of introducing them if necessary. Another point in which the League are sanguine of being able to play a useful part is affording means for the collection of information with regard to the manner in which different corps are worked and organised. Practical soldiers aver that one of the requirements of the Volunteer Force is that the work of the service generally should be carried out upon one recognised and generally adopted system. While agreeing that the varying circumstances of life and environment make it impossible for the War Office to lay down more rigid lines than they now do for the conduct of corps, it is argued that much might be done to bring about a more uniform scheme of work if means of inter-communication than they now enjoy for the exchange of views. The League Probably in time to come the new organisation may see its way clear to undertake the duty of settling schemes for Kriegspiel exercises. I the provinces this would be very highly appre-clated. There are now quite an array of tactical associations, both for officers and non-commissioned officers, which are doing most excellent work, but they are all connected with the great centres of population, where experienced officers are to be found who are both able and willing to set schemes and surrevintend the exercises. But in the smaller towns it is different, and there can be not the slightest doubt that were schemes easily obtainable at a comparatively small cost, Kriegspiel would be much more played in the winter months at regimental headquarters than

There is an infinity of ways in which the Volunteer League hope to render useful service. They disclaim any intention of at any time harassing the authorities. On the otherhand they insist upon the absolutely disinterested character of the work which they conceive to be theirs. They are of opinion that they will be able to render the authorities distinct and valuable assistance by focussing public, and more or less expert. opinion with regard to the wants and requirements of the Volunteer Force. By far the most Important problem that awaits solution is the great range question. Every day the difficulty of providing ranges in place of those which are in by an experienced Chinese pilot, who was being condemned as unsaid for the repeating positive that the vessel was not in the prohibited | service sifie becomes greater. Ranges must be provided, whatever the cost, and there can be no two opinions that the hands of any Government which seriously undertakes to make the lights and bounds. He said the captain told necessary provision will be considerably strengthened if they are conscious of the support of so Admiralty Dock. He did so, anchoring about large a body as the Volunteer League promises to be. One very gratifying feature of the roll of the League, as it stands at present, is the large number of ex-Volunteers who have already subscribed to it. The circular is signed by Lieut. A. Chapman H.-K.V.C., who announces that the entrance fee is re., the annual subscription 6d., and that Enrolment Papers are now at the Hongkong Volunteer Corps Institute and may be signed and subscriptions paid on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday this week or next, from 6 p.m.

"Mr. J. J. Francis, Q C. (instructed by Mr H. L. Dennys), appeared for the parties moving, and Hon. H. E. Pollock, Acting Attorney-General (instructed by Messrs. Johnson, Stokes. and Master) represented the plaintiffs.

The arguments of counsel on both sides were heard on the 30th October and 6th November. In his judgment, which was written, his Lordship said :- In the first of these two actions the plaintiff seeks to recover by proceedings for rem against the steamship Ningehow the sum of $1533.32 for his wages and disbursements as master of the vessel, while in the second action the plaintiffs seek to recover by similar proceedings against the same vessel the sum of $1765.00 for their wages as seamen on board the versel. An 'appearance, was entered in both actions by His Imperial Majesty the Emperor of China as owner of the vessel and also by Messes, Bennertz & Co., of Shanghal, as charterers of the vessel. On the 28th October, 1896, the defendant, the Emperor of Chins, filed and served in each of the actions a notice of his intention to move the Court that the action be dismissed. An affidavit by Mr. H. M. Hillier, of the Imperial Maritime Customs of Chins, resident in Hongkong, was filed in support of the motion and a counter affidavit was filed by the plaintiff Frahm. With the consent of parties the two actions were consolidated for the purposes of the hearing of the motions. That hearing took place on the 30th October, 1896, and the 4th November, 1805. For the sake of convenience I propose to nso the singular number, as if there were only one motion and one action. The grounds on which the notice of motion was founded were stated orally by Mr. Francis; counsel for the Emperor of China, at the hearing. They were two in number-ret, that the claim of the plaintiff is so manifestly untenable and vexstious that the bringing of it forward in thisaction amounts to an abuse of the process of the Court and andly, that the Ningchow is a foreign vessel being under the Chinese flag, that a protest has been made by the representative in this colony of the Chinese Government against the exercise of jarisdiction by the Court in the case, and that the circumstances under which that protest has been made are such that the Court will give effect to it and refuse to adjudicate on the claim His Lordship then dwelt on the principles regulating the Court's jurisdiction, and said :- It is. I think, sufficient for me to express an opinion that the circumstances of this case are not such as to justify the Court in intervening. in the way suggested by the metion, between the plaintiff and the defendant, and it follows therefore that the motion must be refused on the first of the two grounds on which it was based I proceed to consider the second of these grounds. wire that a protest has been made by the representative in this colony of the Chinese Government against the exercise of jurisdiction by the Court in the case, and that the reasons upon which the protest is founded are sufficient to Induce the Court to give effect to it. and William's Admirally Practice and the Rules of Proceedure of Admiralsy Jurisdiction of the Supreme Court were quoted as dealing with cases in which foreign vessels, and crews were concerned and his Lordship went on to say :- Applying these rules to the present case, Strathallan three questions appear to arise, and upon the answers to be made to them the decision of the Dis second part of the motion must turn. These questions are, 1st, is the steamship Nengchow a foreign vessel? andly, if the first question is Talsang answered in the affirmative, is Mr. Hillier, the Freeburg person making the protest against the exercise of jurisdiction by the Court, duly qualified as representative of the foreign Government to make the protest? and, 3rdly, if the second question is answered in the affirmative, are reasonable that the aged Minister should have been able to grounds shown for making the protest?
